Sonora Earthquake Stories Exaggerated.

Rigorous Enforcement of the Exclusion Act at San Francisco.

Only Diplomats and Their Attendants Can Hereafter Land.

The English Beer Syndicate Not to Have the Entire Field at San Francisco—Stock Train Wrecked.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—[By the Associated Press.]

The Chronicle's Yuma correspondent made a trip to the town of Lerdo, Mexico, which was reported to be destroyed by an earthquake July 30.

He reports that the accounts of the earthquake have been greatly exaggerated. No houses were destroyed, and he failed to find the place where the Colorado River was reported to be pouring into a fissure in the earth.

There was no tidal wave in the Gulf of California, and the shock was hardly felt there. The report that hills disappeared is explained by stating that about 100 feet of sand bluff fell into the river. He also investigated the alleged disappearance of the river on the day of the earthquake. He found that opposite Lerdo is a large island. Until a month ago the river flowed in the east channel, nearest to Lerdo, then it began to change to the west channel. The cause was the gradual eating away of the sand bluff on the main land which fell into the east channel and blocked it up. This was noticed three weeks before the earthquake.

AGAINST BEER MONOPOLY.

A New Brewery to be Established in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—[By the Associated Press.]

The proposition to start a new brewery in opposition to those controlled by the English syndicate have been abandoned.

was denied today by Secretary Bandt of the American Brewery Company.

"We have no intention of abandoning the enterprise," he said. "We have already expended thousands of dollars in the search for new buildings. Messrs. Busch and Zinkand are at present in Europe on business connected with the new plant and on their return work will begin at once as all other preliminary arrangements have been completed. None of the directors have withdrawn. Among those who have been named as directors are Claus Spreckels, Adolphus Busch, the brewer of St. Louis, James Heileman, John Heileman, Charles Zinkand, H. Liebes and J. B. Brandt. The company has incorporated according to the laws of California with a capital of $3,000,000.

CHINESE CANNOT LAND.

The Exclusion Act Being Rigorously Enforced.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—[By the Associated Press.]

The landing of Chinese from the steamer Oceanica was stopped today by order of Collector Phelps. The order was due to a circular received from the Treasury Department quoting the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Wan Sig. The latter was a laborer and wanted to land on the ground of previous residence. The court held that no Chinese, merchant or otherwise, could land in the United States unless he was provided with a consular certificate. To obtain this certificate he would have to prove that he was conducting a mercantile business in this country, which would be almost an impossibility in China. Collector Phelps holds that this practically excludes all Chinese except those connected with the diplomatic corps.

Fell Into a Ditch.

GRASS VALLEY, Aug. 13.—Theodore Swartz, an old resident of Pleasant Valley, who has been ill for some time, went to Excelsior ditch, which runs through his farm, yesterday, to raise the gate for irrigating his place. He fell into the ditch filled with deep water, but succeeded in grasping weeds on the bank, and was rescued almost lifeless. He will probably recover.

Desperate Cutting Arrays.

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 13.—Warrants were issued today for the arrest of three Italians, Angelo Bertolotti, Paolo and Steffani for assault to murder three other Italians at Duncan Mills last Saturday night. The assault was made during a drunken row, and two of the men assaulted were so badly that it is thought they will die.

The Pine Nut Excitement.

CARSON (Nev.), Aug. 13.—Developments are steadily going on at the Pine Nut gold mines and prospectors are constantly arriving. Ten tons of ore, shipped to Salt Lake, returned 3000 tons. Zinc uncovered his ledge 3000 tons, and found rich prospects all along the ledge.

Native Sons Indignant.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—At a meeting tonight of Native Sons of the Golden West it was decided that, as the Southern Pacific refused to make a 22 rate to Santa Cruz and return, they would not celebrate Admission day in that city. They are undecided whether to go to Santa Rosa, or to Stockton, by boat.

The Old Pensacola.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—The U. S. S. Pensacola left San Francisco for Mare Island this afternoon. It is believed she will go out of commission there as in her present condition she is hardly fit for sea service.

A Stock Train DePailed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—A train of ten freight cars, loaded with livestock, was derailed early this morning

In South San Francisco, and John W. Molloy, an employee of the Western sugar refinery, who was riding on the train, was so badly mangled that he died after reaching the hospital.

Brakenen, Kelly and Quinn were buried from the top of the train, but escaped with a few bruises.

Sawmill Burned.

SUSANVILLE, Aug. 13.—Last night the sawmill of Lawrence & O'Donnel was burned with 120,000 feet of lumber. The loss is $50,000. The fire caught from the back of the furnace. There was no insurance.

Residence Burned.

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 13.—Last night the residence of J. B. Scholl was destroyed by fire. The loss is $20,000; insured. The cause of the fire was an explosion of a coal oil lamp.

Fights to Come Off.

NORFOLK (Va.), Aug. 13.—Tommy Warren, formerly of California, now of this city, and Cal McCarthy of Jersey City, will fight at the Olympic Club in New Orleans September 15, for a purse of $2000. The agreement is for a fight, Queensberry rules, at 115 pounds.

Larkin is now training in this city under direction of Mike Haley, ex-champion welter weight of America.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—The Pacific Athletic Club of this city has offered a purse of $12,500 for a finish fight between Bob Fitzsimmons and Ted Pritchard, the English middleweight champion.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

GEN. B. F. BUTLER is not dead—not by a large, still majority.

The French are enthusiastic over the Russian Grand Duke Alexis.

The teachers of the United States draw $10,000,000 a year in salaries—and they earn it.

It is reported that the Chinese mission has been offered to Senator Squire of Washington.

The Pope has called his special blessing to the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America.

The noble cruiser Charleston is to become the flagship of Admiral Belknap on the China station.

The wheat crop of the United States for 1914 is estimated at between 550 and 585 millions of bushels.

The English press indulges in strong eulogies of the character and literary achievements of the late James Russell Lowell.

JERRY SIMPSON, the sockless statesman, has declared that he is after John Sherman's scalp. An Ohio paper thinks that Jerry had better have his own riveted on first.

M. EIFFEL, the architect of the Eiffel tower at Paris, has asked the World's Fair commissioners the privilege of putting in a bid to build a similar tower for the World's Fair at Chicago.

CISAN DOYLE, who is spoken of as "a rising young English novelist," (not a r-y-l) has perpetrated a story which he calls "The Red-headed League." Presumably its sequel is to be "The White-horse Brigade."

THE local Produce Exchange has gone out of business for lack of interest on the part of its members. It has for some time not had the energy or enterprise to advertise its meetings, and seems to have died for want of breath.

SALT RIVER VALLEY, Arizona, claims the largest fig orchards in the world. It is said that the fruit ripens from two to four weeks earlier than it does in California, and the climate is perfectly suited to both growing and drying.

AN evening paper reinforces THE TIMES' suggestion about the cow tree, and urges that the butter tree be introduced along with it. The amendment is accepted. With these and the cheremoya (custard apple), the egg plant and the vegetable oyster, we may hold a perennial picnic.

LOS ANGELES is to have an ice plant.
Peculiar sort of soil they must have there. Produces ice or oranges indifferently.—(Oakland Times)

Not infrequently, but first-class in every respect. Fine ice and fine oranges! And besides that, we have any number of saddle-trees, all productive; and the grass-widow crop is always fair.

PREPARATORY to her departure for Chinese waters, the United States cruiser Charleston is to go into the dry dock at Vallejo to receive a coat of paint. A few repairs are to be made and ten sail-makers have been put to work on sails. It was intended to overhaul the engines, but this work will be postponed in order to allow an early departure.

S. C. REES of Arizona proposes to go on a mining expedition in a balloon.
A rich "black" ledge is known to exist in the face of a cliff in Cataract Canyon, 1200 feet above the bed of the Colorado, and is not accessible by ropes lowered from above. So Mr.
Rees will go up in a big anchored balloon and try to hold himself steady against the interesting spot until he can dig a lodgment in the cliff. The balloon will come in handy after that in going to and from work. It is proposed to have the aerial car built in seven or eight compartments, each one of which will have sufficient buoyancy to sustain the basket and a man's weight. Then, if there is a too ardent contact between the balloon and the cliff and one or more of the compartments are broken, Mr. Rees need not necessarily play the Humpty-Dumpty act.

No CALIFORNIAN secured the horticultural bullet at Chicago, much to the regret of the people of this State. But as the course pursued by those citizens who favored J. de Barth Shorb for the position, and opposed other candidates whom they knew to be unfit, we make no doubt, but they stand by their action unflinchingly, and have no excuses to make for having exercised their clear prerogatives in the premises. The ousting, if any there be, of having cut the State out of the appointment, does not properly fall upon the men who supported the State's best representative, but it belongs to those unwise, undiscriminating and reckless people who insisted that known inferior and objectionable men were fit for the place, and should be appointed over the strongest protest.

the industry seemed to stop where he left it, until more recently taken up by Mr. Spiker.

Tobacco is one of the most important staples of the United States, and it is accounted a reliable and profitable product in countries where it is grown.
Why California has been so slow to add this to her list of agricultural resources it is hard to say. Probably because the allu-ments of fruit growing and other branches of husbandry have been so great, and because few of the farmers of this country are versed in the methods of tobacco culture and curing.
The agricultural classes are notable for their reluctance to try experiments.
It is to be hoped, however, that since the way has been so well pioneered for them the culture of this product may be undertaken on a more extensive scale, and that within a few years the domestic supply will be sufficient at least for home consumption, thus keeping in the country a good many hundred thousand dollars a year which now goes east.

ARIZONA'S WILD MAN.

Arizona has developed a genuine sensation in the person of a so-called wild man, who designates himself as O. Homo, and who has been ranging about the country without any clothing whatever, and subsisting on what he calls "the wild man's diet." He is held in the jail at Tombstone for the present on the charge of indecent exposure or something of that sort.
Meanwhile he talks freely to reporters, and has spoken several wild-man's rambles about his capture by the Indians, by whom he was mistaken for the Messiah and came being crucified, and about his escape down the Colorado River on a log and his subsequent flight across the country, riding on the back of a wild steer. O. Homo has succeeded in throwing a glamor of romance around himself by refusing to say a word concerning his former life, although latest reports say he is now engaged in writing out an elaborate account of himself which he will make public on his release from jail.
Judging from his writings already published he is a man of good education, and some pretensions even to scholarship. It is intimated that he was once in his life a professional baseball player. It is manifest that he is not crazy, and that his naked escape is only an eccentric freak inspired by a disgust with the angular edges of civilization.
The notoriety which the man has suddenly achieved, coupled with the mystery surrounding him, has resulted in a perfect flood of letters pouring in upon him from wives who have lost their husbands and anxious families generally who mourn a lost member.
One girly-girl of the Nina Van Zant stripes, writing, asking an exchange of photographs. If he consents and she sends him in his aboriginal nothingness of costume, the chances are that she will have him at a disadvantage.
It looks a little as though O. Homo is after some cheap newspaper notoriety and is getting it. His fame will last for nine days, and then Old Homo will be relegated to the limbo of forgotten folk.

A BRIGHT observer of men and things says that in all the great number of fatal accidents, premeditated murders, or cases of manslaughter daily recorded, he has never found one instance in which the misfortune or crime was due to the absence of a revolver.

AMU-EMENTS.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE.—The Lyceum Theater Company gave their first performance here at Haddon Chambers' play The Idler, last night and achieved another success. The author of Captain Stelf has made a considerable name for himself and the piece is one that calls forth all the latent powers of each one of the chief members of the cast. As for the genial Le Moyne, he is in this piece under a temporary eclipse, his part being entirely subordinate to the main interest; still, he makes a most amusing sketch of the amorous widow, open perhaps to the objection that the sensibility of the character is a little over emphasized. Graciel Mrs.
Waters, who has been acting in the play of genuine emotion and made it effective. The pretty little ingenue, Miss Little Shannon has not so prominent a character as a role in the play, but she is just as winsome in her ways. The appearance of Miss Crossman in an entirely different last night confirmed her as the mistress of the Chertsey Ball, but talent; the scheming, brilliant, scandal loving widow was excellently portrayed in the two acts where she appeared.

The man in interest of The Idler, however, is centered in the balance of the cast, and it must be confessed that the demands upon his powers were not to admiration. There is just sufficient of the melodramatic element in the construction to remove the piece from the ordinary category of drawing-room drama, and there is a certain amount of centered in the chief figure, personated by Herbert Keely, that culminates in a pointed moral not often to be deduced from the modern drama. Mr. Keely showed his self to be, as in all his characters, very earnest, very impressive, and even magnetic, in spite of the absorbing nature of the role in which he was pouring out the passion of his love to the wife of his bosom friend. It is a pity that the surprise with some to see Mr. Keely make such a good villain, but his "Mark Cross" has, after all, many redeeming points, and when the curtain falls on his solitary figure in the last act, alone save for the presence of the waiting servant who inquires his master's destination, and answers him with a burst of bitter despair, "God knows," the hope arises that the "Idler" may yet achieve his peace of mind and live to be an honored member of society. Mr. Keely's art has never been seen to greater advantage than in the evenly balanced, strong and cultivated personification of this character.

Miss Cayvan was also to a great extent a relief to the audience. Artistic in her abandon and thoroughly tragic in her despair and agony, she yet never over-stepped the bounds of nature. In the chief scene of the play, that of the third act, she expressed the heart's anguish of a woman who is the tenderest of feeling, and despite of her unfortunate husband was sublimely indicated and very naturally made to lead up to the climax of the story.
E. J. Kattell deepened the good impression made by his work in the Chertsey Ball, and showed that he is indeed a valuable acquisition to the important company.

Eugene Ormonde has a certain stiffness that will probably wear off with more practice; his rigid attitude so long sustained in the last act was an evidence of this failing.
He has earnestness and evident intelligence which should be great helps in other roles, but more congenial to the stage.
The audience, while not so large as the merits of the entertainment demanded, was yet of very fair size, and when it once got into the swing of the play, was enthusiastic in applauding.

Tonight.—The Idler will be repeated.

WHY WE NEED CUBA.

Possession of the Island is of Strategic Importance.

GEN. JORDAN ON THE SUBJECT

He Attempts to Show That the Island Should by Right Belong to the United States.

In the August number of the Forum the question why we need Cuba is answered by Gen. Thomas Jordan, who, as many of our readers are aware, speaks on this subject with knowledge and authority, says the New York Sun.
It is the strategic importance of the island which he is especially qualified to discuss, but he does not omit to point out how immense might be the industrial and commercial value of Cuba under changed political conditions.

In a review of the historical aspects of the Cuban question Gen. Jordan shows that for seventy years American statesmen of all political parties have been alive to the usefulness of the island on strategic grounds. Thus Thomas Jefferson, the acquirer of the Louisiana territory, said in 1823: "The addition of Cuba to our confederacy is exactly what is wanted to round our power as a nation to the point of utmost interest." This conviction was shared by another illustrious American, who cannot be suspected of the slightest sympathy with the slave power. John Quincy Adams, writing while Secretary of State in the course of a correspondence with the American minister in Havana, said:
"For a multitude of considerations Cuba has become an object of transcendent importance to the commercial and political interests of our Union." Mr. Adams proceeds to sum up these considerations with an amplitude of knowledge and accuracy of expression that have seldom been surpassed. "Its commanding position," he said, "with reference to the Gulf of Mexico and the West Indies; its situation midway between our southern coast and the coast of South America; its safe and capacious harbor of the Havana, fronting a long line of our shores destitute of the same advantage; the nature of its productions and its wants, furnishing the means of a commerce unusually profitable and naturally beneficial, give it an importance in the sum of our national interests, with which that of no other foreign territory can be compared."

These words were written nearly seventy years ago, and events have not yet justified Mr. Adams' prediction that within half a century the annexation of Cuba to our Federal Republic would be recognized as "indispensable to the safety and interest of our Union." The importance of the island has meanwhile, however, been often reaffirmed, and notably by Edward Everett when Secretary of State in the Fillmore administration. The vital importance of the island to this country were defined by him as follows: "It bars the entrance to that great river which drains half of the North American continent. It keeps watch at the doorway of our maritime intercourse with California. It is a natural and commercial link between our lands and the valuable, under certain contingencies it might be almost essential to our safety." To these official declarations Gen. Jordan adds that any maritime power that should occupy Cuba could control a more valuable domain than that of Mexico, for Cape San Antonio, at the island's western extremity, is separated from Cape Catocus, on the coast of Yucatan, by little more than a hundred miles of sea, while Cape Dicazos, on a hundred miles distant from Florida, the larger part of the inter-space being filled by the Bahama banks and islands.

Passing to the productive capacities of Cuba, Gen. Jordan demonstrates that, although the island has been ports to the United States, they might be incalculably increased, because as yet only a small fraction—5,400,000 acres—of Cuba's whole area—30,000 square miles—is as yet under tillage.
As a matter of fact, though smaller than the State of New York, the island contains much larger acreage of richly-productive land, which needs only the stimulus of free access to the American market to be brought under the plow. The principal acquired ports, such as sugar and tobacco, in the list of Cuban exports has caused us to lose sight of the island's adaptability to the growth of coffee.

Gen. Jordan recalls the interesting circumstance that Cuba produces more than 100,000,000 pounds of the cultivation of the berry is due to the Spanish commercial restrictions, which resulted in giving the Brazilian staple a virtual monopoly of the market of the United States.
The resources of Cuba are not by any means confined to the actual and possible products of agriculture. From personal observation Gen. Jordan is convinced that the gold deposits located on the island on its discovery are far from having been exhausted. As for copper, it may suffice to say that $10,000,000 worth of that metal was exported from the Santiago district to England in the six years preceding the outbreak of the Cuban revolution. It is also known that there have been found large quantities of iron ore of superlative quality, most desirable for mixture with our own ores in the manufacture of Bessemer steel. We should also be careful to remember, in enumerating the sources of Cuba's wealth, that the middle and eastern sections of the island are rich in timber adapted to shipbuilding, and that there are great forests of mahogany and other rare woods in request for decorative purposes.

Gen. Jordan has made an exhaustive and impressive statement of the reasons which might lead us to look with favor on the annexation of Cuba, provided it could be effected without recourse to war. There is some ground for believing that the commercial treaty recently concluded between Spain and the United States may cause the farmers of Galicia and the manufacturers of Catalonia to take interest in the retention of Cuba.
The island has never been taken hitherto, and even to acquiesce in a sale of Cuba to this country. There is no doubt that such a transaction would be bathed with rapture by the Cubans themselves.

Rhodes the Electrician.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I do not believe in settling private business matters through the columns of a newspaper, but since Mr. Coby has brought the differences of the Rhodes & Keese Electric and Supply Company before the public in your paper, I ask that you give me an opportunity to state
"the other side." The whole misunderstanding between the company and myself was brought about by an attempt of the directors to take thirty shares of stock away from me. The former Rhodes & Keese Electric Company was merged into the present Rhodes & Keese Electric and Supply Company, and share for share of the new company was issued for the old.

Some six or seven months after the issue of the new stock, the directors claimed that it was irregular in not having a proper resolution recorded on the minutes of the company's meeting, and we were requested to surrender our stock. I refused to do it, but Mr. Keese made the statement that he had never paid for his stock in the new company or for his stock in the old company either. This was the beginning of the trouble. The claim of the company that my account was overdrawn $1423 is incorrect for this reason: The balance sheet of the old company, made by an expert accountant in May, 1890, showed a profitable business for the previous year and my shares would have been entitled to a profit of $700.
Had I been credited with this sum it was understood that I was to have, the alleged overdraft would have resolved itself into nothingness.

While I was at home sick with lagrippe last winter, a meeting of the board of directors was called, and though a director, I was not notified.
At this meeting I was removed from the office of vice-president without any notice or any chance whatever of being heard. The attack upon me smacked of a high-handed policy to get the business which I had built up away from me, and the course of the company lately bears out this truth.
Because I started out again independently, my energies have been refurnished to such an extent that I have even gone so far as to take contracts below actual cost to keep them away from me.

THE SAN PASQUAL RANCH.

Mr. Bandini Resents an Imputation Cast upon His Character.
Three or four days ago there appeared in your paper an article headed "Retrospect," by an old settler, in which the usual tiresome comparison was made of the far-sightedness of the American, especially in dealing with the Spaniard, and wrote Arturo Bandini in the Pasadena Star. The former could plainly see through the screen of future years the sheen of the orange tree and the glimmer of its golden fruit; nay, more, he could see the gleaming lines of rail and wire, etc., etc. What about the Spanish-American, Spaniard, Mexican, "greaser," "blackman," or whatever it may be your good pleasure to call him? What was he doing during the prophetic and gleaming years of his white brother? Why, he was horse-racing, cock fighting and eating garlic and onions, of course, poor fellow!

To illustrate this, let us take for an example a Spanish-American gentleman, an intimate friend of my family, Don, or rather "Col." Don Manuel Garitas. The "Col." is a later addition. His wife denies emphatically that her husband was ever in the army, but that "all right," she is not supposed to know anything about him. We will take for an example, I repeat, Don Manuel Garitas and his San Pasqual ranch, now-days called "princely domain." Let us see how the "Col." Manuel Garitas was such an idiot as the old settler would paint him. As everyone knows, or ought to know, in the early days livestock constituted about the only wealth in California. A good stock or grass ranch meant wealth. Was the San Pasqual ranch, then, the "princely domain" that? By no means. This domain wouldn't keep 200 Texas steers. I speak from experience and a costly one, too. I lost 600 head of sheep by simply grazing them on the range. For a while I did not cross the line of the princely domain, or I would have lost the whole band.
I dare say it will surprise some people when I tell them that one of the cutest and most far-seeing Yankees I ever walked on California soil refused to buy the whole of the "princely domain" for 50 cents per acre. Under the circumstances was Garitas such a fool for selling out at $1.50 per acre?

I will go one better. A friend told me that Dr. Griffin offered him the San Pasqual ranch if he would pay taxes due on it. Give the devil his due, gentlemen. Neither the short-sighted native nor the far-seeing American could see what we see now.

All the credit belongs to the gentleman composing the Indiana Colony, who began the good work, and to the present inhabitants of Pasadena, who have made the "desert bloom like the rose" and made the San Pasqual ranch what it is now, a princely domain and the Crown of the Valley.

STATE AND COAST.

The San Diego Women's Silk Culture Association has received an order for 3000 cocoons from Ithaca, N. Y.

There are thirteen Mexican dollars in the San Diego treasury, which were taken in at par over twelve years ago, and the treasurer has never been able to pass them at par.

The man-of-war Pensacola left San Diego Saturday. She sailed direct to Marine Island, and will at once go out on commission. It is explained that one reason for the action is to give the Pensacola men to other and newer war vessels which are now short of all forces.

A San Diego military man suggests that a petition be formulated by the representative business and professional men of that city requesting the Secretary of the Navy to have the Pensacola stationed in San Diego as a training ship for the use of the naval reserve battalion that is being organized.

Annie Conant, a San Diego invalid, who has been suffering during the past year to collect 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps, has succeeded in accumulating from every source the enormous number of 970,000 stamps, which mean an average of 2,657 daily.

JEROME PARK, Aug. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The third race, mile and a half, was the feature of the day. The starters were Firenzi, Riley and Raceland. The trio were sent traveled 100 yards, Riley had an advantage of two lengths, with Firenzi second, and Raceland following two lengths away. There was no material change in this order until the end of the mile, when Raceland closed on Firenzi.

Riley still retained the lead. Swinging into the home stretch, Barnes shook up Firenzi and she went up to Riley. The three were bunched a fur-

WILL IT COME?

Talk of the Southern Pacific's Extension.

AN EVENT IN COLORED SOCIETY

Mortality in Pasadena—First Shipment of Peaches from Pasadena this Season—Wedding—About Town.

A rumor has certain characteristics peculiar to itself which always exert a certain influence on the minds of its hearers—often times its victims. Taking this into consideration, it is not supposed, and certainly is hoped, that no one will be so rash as to wage more than one hat on the strength of a rumor floating on the streets yesterday to the effect that the Southern Pacific Railway was negotiating with various interested parties with a view to securing an entrance to this city.

The rumor—and it was impossible to secure any definite information to ward its substantiation—was that the road had decided to make an endeavor to secure a right-of-way to Pasadena by the purchase of that branch, long since unused, of the San Gabriel Valley Rapid Transit Company's track from a point near the Southern Pacific's line in Alhambra to a point adjacent to the Raymond Road, whence the company would try and secure a right-of-way to some point down town.

If this was done, the gauge of the track, at present narrow, would be altered to the standard width. On general principles the more railroads a town has the better it is off, but should the above report be corroborated, and the proposed Cross electric road ever get into operation, it would be some little time before Pasadena would attain sufficient growth in population to keep the local trains supplied with a satisfactory patronage.

This is supposing that the people of Pasadena equally divided their patronage among the then four lines to Los Angeles. This would probably not be the case for a considerable period, as the present accommodations are, as a general thing, very satisfactory.

In that further competition might possibly tend to reduce fares would the people welcome it, and even that expectation might be unfilled through combinations.

Such things have occurred before. For the near future, however, the two existing lines of suburban transportation will, in all probability, retain their position as reliable and satisfactory public conveyances.

A HANDSOME COLORED WEDDING. Society in colored circles has been on the qui vive for some time past in joyful anticipation of the approaching nuptials of James Erman Miller and Miss Georgia Etta Boone, both of this city.

There was a large crowd present, and it included quite a number of out-of-town guests, who united in sincere admiration of the tasty and beautiful decorations, which well attested the hand of an experienced beautician.

The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents on South Fair Oaks avenue, and occurred at 7:30 o'clock last evening.

The bride was attired in a dainty gown of cream tulle, trimmed with satin and lace, and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Talbot of Los Angeles and Florence Weiner of Pasadena, wore cream tulle dresses trimmed with Spanish lace and carried bouquets of white roses.

Rev. W. H. Weathers of Sacramento, the presiding elder of the State, performed the ceremony.

The groom was attended by Messrs. W. H. Hughes and J. W. Moore, both of Los Angeles.

An elaborate banquet followed the ceremony, a canopy having been spread above the tables on the lawn, which protected the participants from the evening moisture.

The presents were numerous and handsome. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will at once commence housekeeping on Eureka street.

Among the guests were noticed the following from out of town: Messrs. and Mrs. M. S. Hays of Santa Monica; Miss Leighton, Talbot, Mosby, Brown and Owens, all of Los Angeles; Misses Johnson and Frey of San Diego; Misses Nannie Ramsey and Middleton of Los Angeles; Miss Clara Hays of Santa Monica; Messrs. W. H. Reynolds, R. C. Owens, W. H. Welch, of Los Angeles.

HEALTH IN THE COMMUNITY. The bi-monthly report of Dr. H. H. Sherck, City Health Officer, for June and July, is appended. It affords an interesting study of our health as a municipality, and the showing is good.

Report for June.—Whole number of deaths, males 4, females 4, total 8; one infant under 1 year old; between the ages of 20 and 30, 5; between 30 and 40, 1; between 40 and 50, 1; between 50 and 60, 1; over 60, 1.

Of the nativities of the deceased 1 was of California, 6 of eastern States, and 2 foreign.

Death was caused by consumption in 3 cases, bronchitis 1, aneurism 1, spinal sclerosis 1, suicide 1, accident 1 and stillborn 1.

Report for July.—Whole number of deaths, males 4, females 4, total 8; 1 infant under 1 year old; between the ages of 1 and 5, 1; between 20 and 30, 2; between 30 and 40, 3; over 60, 1.

Nativities as follows: California 1, eastern States 6, foreign 1.

Causes were consumption in 3 cases; typhoid fever, 2; heart disease, 1; hydrocephalus, 1, and dentition, 1.

The birth report for July includes a total of 16, of which 6 were males and 10 females. Races were white, 15, and colored, 1.

FRUIT SHIPPING HAS BEGUN. Yesterday the Southern California Packing Company at Pasadena shipped a carload of peaches consigned to itself at Los Angeles.

This is the first shipment of any considerable size this season and will be followed from now on by continuous shipments.

The fruit sent yesterday is to be utilized by the company for canning purposes and was of very good and uniform quality.

A MADISON AVENUE WEDDING. An unusually pretty private wedding occurred at the residence of Mrs. Ed L. Farris on Madison avenue.

Relatives only were present to witness the happy union of George de Cou

MORE TROUBLE FOR OFFICIALS

Street Railways Object to Paying for Paving—Usual Budgets from Riverside, Redlands and Colton.

There is another sensation brewing in local circles which, it is said, will involve a certain gentleman who has been more or less prominent in city and county politics, and who has been generally known and accepted as a boss. This morning Maj. Kenniston will appear in Department Two of the Superior Court before Judge Campbell to answer to the complaint which has been filed, having for its end the ousting of the Mayor from office.

The attorneys for the defense in the case have the utmost confidence in their ability to knock the case out of court without any trouble. If this can be done on purely legal grounds the general public will be satisfied. No one charges Maj. Kenniston with anything other than a technical violation of the law. It has not even been hinted from any source that he has been dishonest or that the city treasury has ever been mulcted out of a dollar by or through him. Maj. Kenniston is an old and respected citizen of San Bernardino and one of its heavy taxpayers.

Another matter has come up which is going to cause litigation, in which the city will be interested as well as the City Street Railway Company. The street railway company, it would seem, has decided to abandon its franchise over all the city streets, and the City Trustees order the blocks paved.

Doing this the street-car company are of the opinion that they will escape paying for their share of the paving. The City Trustees have announced their intention to fight the matter in the courts, where the question will be determined as to whether the street railway company can escape this liability by abandonment of their franchise over the blocks for which a contract to pave has been let. Some lawyers claim that an abandonment of the franchise over a few blocks to escape paying for paving will result in the forfeiture of the entire franchise of the street-car company.

Yesterday afternoon the attorneys for the street-car company filed notice with the trustees that they abandoned their franchise on Third street from C to F and on D street from Third to Fifth streets. These are the main thoroughfares of the city.

Owing to the extraordinary legal complications in which the city has become involved, the trustees have employed additional counsel to assist City Attorney John Brown, Jr. This action is generally deemed to be wise and necessary.

A movement is now on foot here to organize a company which will apply to the trustees for a franchise for an electric street railway. It is believed that the City Trustees will grant the franchise, and that the road will be made profitable. An endeavor will be made to interest Los Angeles capitalists in the new scheme.

Yesterday afternoon the papers were prepared in an injured suit to restrain the City Trustees from paying $2000 due on the bridge across Lytle Creek. Here are more complications and more trouble. Before the territory where the Lytle Creek bridge stands again, went out to the California street car company, the Terminal road and looked into the question of raising the wires crossing the track at that point so as to enable a man standing upon a freight-car to pass underneath the bridge. This will be done at once.

The G. R. K. held a regular meeting last night.

PERSONALS. L. W. Giddings was in town yesterday. The Misses Temple are at Santa Monica. J. W. Camper is in from Long Beach today, but returns tomorrow for another term.

Miss Sadie Reeder of Chicago is the guest of Miss Lily de Los Robles avenue. Allen Dodsworth and wife were at Redondo yesterday. Mr. Phelps was at R. V. yesterday inspecting a walnut orchard with a view to a possible purchase.

Sergt. Bassett and Cook will be "out of sight" at Santa Monica. They will be heard to touch, and common talk had best not toy with their good nature. This is why. Capt. Phelps was a chair of an original and very unique and beautiful design have been manufactured expressly for them. They are works of the cabinet maker's art, and as unapproachable as they are.

Yesterday J. S. Mills of the Terminal road, accompanied by Mr. Miller of the telephone company and Mr. Torrence of the electric light company, went out to the California street car company, the Terminal road and looked into the question of raising the wires crossing the track at that point so as to enable a man standing upon a freight-car to pass underneath the bridge. This will be done at once.

The Riverside Water Company has started in for reform. The president's salary has been reduced from $300 to $200 per month. The reform movement may have the effect of decreasing the price of water to customers.

The squabble among the City Trustees in San Bernardino is watched with a great deal of interest by Riverside people. A similar row among the board of supervisors will be followed with a similar degree of interest by the citizens of this place.

The casing of the artesian well is all in and the bottom has been sealed. A flow of fifty-five inches has been secured. The well is to be run into a small reservoir built specially for the well and then into the pipes.

The new Evans bank, it is now announced, will open January 1. The capital stock will be $500,000. It will be the largest financial institution in the State.

As far as has been heard from all of the Riverside G. R. men and their families who are at San Diego are having a most pleasant and enjoyable time. Prof. Lewis will shortly remove to Colton to locate.

All the people of Riverside and vicinity sympathize with the citizens of Redlands who are sufferers by the flood. They were glad to learn that the first reports of the overflow had been exaggerated.

REDLANDS. (Times agent, Thomas M. Dugan, Otis Block, with whom subscriptions, advertisements and news items may be left.)

All evidences of the flood have now almost entirely disappeared and the city is the same as usual. All excitement has subsided and citizens are pursuing the even tenor of their way. Business is as brisk as ever. The hotels are crowded with guests. Real estate agents are doing as much as they ever did.

It has been ascertained that no lives were lost by the flood's overflow. The City Board of Trustees have declined to accept the abandonment by the City Railway Company of their franchise in so far as it affects Third street between C and D. They have notified the corporation that they will be held responsible for all legal obligations arising from the granting of the franchise and the acceptance by the corporation of the same. This is the beginning of another war in municipal affairs.

The ordinance for a free library and reading for the city has been read once before the City Trustees.

The city waterworks received $175.95 during July.

The Santa Fe Redlands branch had a very busy day yesterday carrying San Bernardino people to Redlands. James Trotter so far forgot himself as to get drunk, for which he paid a $5 fine yesterday.

Mrs. J. E. Harwell is at Carlsbad. Mrs. C. T. Hartley will shortly visit Los Angeles.

During the absence of G. E. Burrall, W. J. Gillespie is assisting.

Beaumont yesterday there was a heavy shower, but no damage was done.

Rains in Arizona have delayed Southern Pacific trains for the last few days.

SANTA MONICA. Yesterday was another hot day and lots of people. The bathers were out in full force, and each one hunted for the coolest place he or she could find.

A long train of box-cars came down yesterday morning, bringing the soldiers' camp equipments. All day the boys were busy with teams making the transfer to the campground. By the close of the day everything will be ready for the encampment. The point chosen for the campground is a little ways north of the residence of Senator Jones, immediately fronting the ocean. Every accommodation and convenience has been provided, and if there should be any kick it will emanate from some chronic who "always is but never to be blast."

The continuation of the "mad-dog" case was on yesterday in full blast at Treichel's court. The North Beachers were there in full array. The uncles and aunts, cousins, the cook, the hired girl, the chambermaid, the hostler, and a formidable retinue of "poor relations" were subpoenaed as witnesses.

They filled the courtroom, blockaded the street, and crowded the neighboring real-estate agent out of his office, while the curious small boys had their noses flattened upon every window that offered a "peep-hole" of vantage.

"Bull" Wilson and Judge Morgan are pitted against each other as opposing counsel. All this waste of forensic eloquence, knitting of judicial brow, and crowding together of the North Beachers, has grown out of the killing of a worthless dog.

The ladies of the Congregational Church will give a dime social this evening at their place of worship on the corner of Oregon avenue and Third street. A very select programme has been arranged for the occasion.

The latest novelties at the seaside were a candy-pull and watermelon party on Wednesday evening, the former at the Hotel Arcadia and the latter on the beach. Of course, there was fun without stint, and tableaux and pictures that would have been a delight to a snap-shot camera fender.

Herbert B. Tenney, cashier of the Consolidated National Bank of Tucson, and one of the proprietors of the Evening Citizen, is registered at the Arcadia. Mr. Tenney is accompanied by J. Frank Henry, a young attorney of the metropolis of the coast land.

Conrad Jacoby of the San Francisco Chronicle has exchanged his trip for a lounge on the sands of the beach.

POMONA. The new China bus line is running regularly and is proving a great convenience to the public. It makes three round trips a day.

The apricot crop is all picked. The peach crop is beginning to come in, but prices are not very well established. Many of the growers have sold their canning peaches to the canneries at Los Angeles, and are waiting for the market to open.

Pomona needs a real canner, and undoubtedly it would pay. Last year all the crop was dried or shipped green. This year there seems no market for dried peaches, and prices for drying peaches are merely nominal.

Contracts for prunes are being made and buyers are offering $25 and $30 per ton.

Grain harvesting is also finished; a large acreage was put in between Pomona and Colton, and that section is now covered with stacks. Good yield of barley is reported by parties that have threshed, the yield being from twenty to thirty sacks per acre.

The yield of wheat has been from ten to fifteen sacks. Prices are good and our grain farmers have made money this year.

Co. D of Pomona will go into camp at Santa Monica, on Saturday, with the First Brigade. They will remain ten days.

A number of veterans of the G. A. R. post are attending the encampment at Coronado.

The China factory started up Tuesday for a trial run. The factory, it is now expected, will begin operations on Saturday.

SOME SANTA FE TIME CHANGES

About Electric and Cable Roads—The Terminal's New Coaches—General, Local and Personal Mention.

In the telegraphic columns of this paper has been published the fact that the Santa Fe Company has been enjoined from putting dining-cars on the through trains, but further particulars on the subject may be of interest. The company sometime ago decided to run dining-cars between the Missouri River and Denver, for the reason, it is claimed, that it was found necessary to take such action in order to place its service upon the same footing as that of the Rock Island and Burlington roads, which have been always running dining-cars between those points. The public seems to be prejudiced in favor of dining-cars and won't patronize the roads having dining stations as freely as the roads having dining-cars. In order to supply the much-felt want the Santa Fe has been engaged in building dining-cars of superior workmanship and provided with all the modern improvements, and was just getting ready to place them in service when Fred Harvey, who has been running the Santa Fe dining stations ever since the road was completed, and who does not like to lose his highly profitable occupation, appears upon the scene and temporarily puts a stop to the Santa Fe's ambition to manage its own business.

The City Council was in session again yesterday at the West Park Hotel. Several petitions were heard, and it was decided to raise the assessment of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank from $27,740 to $29,740, and the University Bank from $13,000 to $14,000.

Persons desiring to place children in the Los Angeles Orphan's Home, or wishing to remove children from the Home, should apply to Miss Dodsworth, 635 South Main street on Tuesday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., and on the first of each month to make payments.

The annual race competition bulletin, Department of Arizona, 1891, places Sergeant John Grace of the Ninth Infantry at the head of the list. Those who secured the "distinguished marksman" medals were Lieut. de Ramsey, Ninth Infantry; Sergeant Brown, Twenty-fourth Infantry; and Sergeant McNab, Twenty-fourth Infantry.

Wednesday a young girl about 16 years of age was at the West Park Hotel. Her mother, who was called to one side, and when asked what it meant, insisted that the girl was respectable, and only appeared in the masculine costume as a joke. He was warned not to attempt the joke again, and on promising to do so the girl was allowed to go.

At 8 o'clock last night an old Frenchman named P. Andrea was run over by a Southern Pacific freight train that was switching on Alameda street. He was taken to the police station, where his wounds, which proved to be slight, were dressed by Dr. Alusworth, Murphy and Lasher. He was out on the head and his right foot was crushed. He was probably drunk and did not hear the train coming.

INDICATORS.
S. M. FRANCISCO, AUG. 13.—Forecast till 8 p.m. Friday: For Southern California—Fair weather, except light rains in the northeast portion.

It was intended to have Rev. F. E. Mason deliver his second lecture upon Christian Science this (Friday) evening, but at the request of many it was postponed to Sunday evening next, as advertised.

The Produce Exchange will close its doors on the last of August, after an existence of seven years. The produce merchants will not interest themselves in the institution and the result is that it is forced to suspend. It is not probable that it will be revived in the fall.

A large number from this city will visit San Diego and the Hotel del Coronado, during the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at the beach. The low tide, made by the 8th of California. Railway, of one fare for the round trip, enabling one to return on or before August 21, will take many to California's most popular resort. The numerous attractions in the neighborhood make this a delightful place to spend a short vacation.

Charles N. Morris and wife of Fowler, Francis J. Kelley of the Needles and Ben Goodrich of San Diego were among the guests who arrived at the Nadeau yesterday.

The Nude in Art.
It now appears as if the alleged "nude in art" sensation in which Chief Glass was so severely criticized for something he knew nothing whatever about, was merely a clever scheme to get some advertising without paying for it. Type-written letters were sent out to at least a dozen papers previous to the publication, and Chief Glass is of the opinion that the complaint about the picture came direct from the house where it is exhibited. If not from the owner, at least at his instigation.

Looking for Her Husband.
Yesterday afternoon a young woman, who gave her name as Mrs. Charles Weighe, called at the police station for assistance in finding her husband, who had deserted her and her child. She said that Weighe formerly worked on the railroad, but of late had been tending bar and waiting in restaurants. She did not know where he was. The police promised her such assistance as lay in their power.

SANTA FE TIME CHANGES.

A new time card will go into effect on the Southern California Railway next Sunday. The following are the most important changes: The train heretofore leaving Los Angeles daily at 10 a.m. for Riverside and San Bernardino, by way of the Belt Line and Orange, will run daily except Sunday. The Belt Line train due here at 5:30 p.m. from San Bernardino will hereafter run daily except Sunday. The Temecula Canyon train, leaving Los Angeles at 11:30 a.m. daily except Sunday, will leave Los Angeles at 11:30 a.m. daily except Sunday for the Escondido branch to run Sundays only, leaving Escondido at 10 a.m. and returning to Los Angeles at 6:05 p.m. The train on the San Jacinto branch will leave San Jacinto hereafter at 11:35 a.m. The new Highland branch, running from San Bernardino to East Highland, will be open for business next Sunday. Trains will leave East Highland at 6:35 a.m. daily, and 1:30 p.m. except Sunday, and will leave San Bernardino at 11:10 a.m. daily except Sunday, and 7 p.m. daily.

SCRAP HEAT.

Through travel between West and East is extremely dull nowadays.

William Wincup, general passenger agent of the Terminal road, visited Long Beach yesterday.

A pile-driver is now at work driving piles for the Terminal bridge across the San Gabriel River at Long Beach.

The Santa Fe is doing a good business in hauling passengers to Coronado. The surf line is deservedly popular.

The schedule of the Southern Pacific overland trains is yet more or less demoralized by the damage done to the tracks in Arizona.

Superintendent Beamer and Trainmaster Hilbard of the Santa Fe were at Los Angeles yesterday, fixing up a new time card.

General Manager Burnett and Chief Engineer McClure of the Terminal road, yesterday drove to Long Beach over the graded roadway upon which the rails will soon be laid.

J. B. Quigley, formerly general agent for the Burlington route, in this city, has been appointed traveling agent for the Santa Fe Fruit Transportation Company, with offices in Sacramento and Los Angeles.

The railroad right-of-way through this country, says the Santa Barbara Press, is now fully organized, and as soon as San Luis Obispo is ready, the whole right-of-way will be formally tendered the railroad company, and the sixty days within which construction must begin will count from that time.

The new coaches for the Los Angeles Terminal road, which have arrived, are beauties. One new feature in these passenger cars that will be appreciated by patrons of the road is the fact that they are large racks above the seats. They are nearly twice as wide as the usual passenger cars and are as long as two seats. Shoppers who come to Los Angeles to buy their supplies will have plenty of room to store their bundles out of the way on their journey homeward.

The confidence of people who have tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, in this preparation, is remarkable. It has cured many who have failed to find good whatever from other articles. For diseases caused by impure blood or low state of the system it is unsurpassed.

YDA ADDIS-STORKE.

A Letter from the Lady to a Santa Barbara Newspaper.

Mrs. Yda Addis-Storke, who is still in this city at the residence of Don Antonio Coronel, has written the following letter to the editors of the Santa Barbara Press:

To the Editors of the Press: As I understand that the city of Santa Barbara is full of reports of alleged murders, threats, assaults, etc., on my part, may I beg, through the columns of your paper, that public justice be suspended until I may, in the regular course of law, disprove these false and malicious allegations, by the testimony of credible and disinterested witnesses. To state the points of such refutations at present would be to do an injustice to my attorneys. Therefore, I can at present only remind your citizens of the fact that I am clearly innocent against Mr. Storke, in a former suit for divorce. Further, if it were true, as asserted, that I am insane, was it not the duty of my husband, in such a case, to provide for my proper asylum and maintenance, instead of turning me out of doors, accused of insanity, and endeavoring to bring me to a physical condition, refusing to pay my board, to release my wardrobe from detention, to give, or even to repay, the pitiful sum beyond the right to enjoy the protection of shelter, clothing and food.

Very sincerely, YDA ADDIS-STORKE.

This ranch helps form the natural boundary of Pasadena. It lies within five minutes' walk of the Raymond Hotel. Whoever has in times past visited the Governor and his estimable wife at their home on this ranch will need no further eulogy on our part as to its quality or location. Los Robles avenue of Pasadena will be connected by avenues extending through the whole tract to Alhambra. This tract will be sold with water for all kinds of farming purposes and fruit culture. The title to water will inure in the land. The Governor's old home place and orange orchard are included in this tract for sale.

On August 10 may be seen in Earley & Conger's office, 30 Bryson & Bonobrak Block, city, also 66 Colorado street, Pasadena, maps and plats of this tract as subdivided. They have the exclusive agency for the sale of this tract.

There is not now and has been offered in Los Angeles county a tract of land of its value at the prices this will be sold for. You can well afford to buy to keep as an investment sure to pay large returns. The one wishing one of the oldest and best orange orchards in the valley, this is an opportunity to gratify his desires. All purchasers will be used alike as to price. The buyer who buys five acres will buy as cheaply as he who buys any larger amount. The first buyers will have their first selections, as there will be no reservation for friends or favorites.

Reford August to the above-named agents will take pleasure in giving information concerning the tract and will be pleased to show interested parties over it.

Voluntary Testimonials
—GIVEN TO—
DR. WOH.
The Eminent Chinese Physician.

Dr. Woh's life work has been from early youth one of persistent and untiring observation, study and research, as fully as lay in his power to perfect himself in all branches of the art of healing human sickness and disease. Born in China, of influential parents, of a family whose ancestors have been for generations deservedly renowned as leading physicians, Dr. Woh naturally followed in the footsteps of his fathers. In China he has practiced his profession for several years, being at one time a physician in the Imperial Hospital, and in America for a long time his great number of patients, his wonderful and many cures, and the great list of letters from grateful and thankful patrons now prove him to be a remarkable and successful healer of sickness and all diseases.

For many years I have been troubled with a lung disease, which finally ended in asthma and consumption. I consulted with the best physicians in Los Angeles, but could find but did me no benefit, but on the contrary I got worse and worse, until I was told by one of them I could not recover. Dr. Woh took me in this condition. He has in two months' time entirely cured me. I most cordially recommend him to all sufferers.

Dr. Woh was recommended to me by a friend. I had been troubled for years with indigestion, causing fearful headaches and vertigo, making my life one of misery. I tried and paid the best physicians without relief. Finally, to please my friend, I visited Dr. Woh at his office and he advised with me and gave me medicines. This was but six weeks ago. Today I can gladly and sincerely say that he has entirely cured me.

CHARLES HELLMANN,

For 3 years I have been troubled with terrible cramps and pains in my abdomen, and with dropsical swellings of my feet and legs, and have been unable to do any work. I tried and paid the best physicians without relief. Finally, to please my friend, I visited Dr. Woh at his office and he advised with me and gave me medicines. This was but six weeks ago. Today I can gladly and sincerely say that he has entirely cured me.
